Transportation Online Permitting System (TOPS) MAP UPDATE

Online users may have noticed a subtle change to the map function in TOPS, the District Department of Transportation (DDOT)'s online permitting system. The TOPS map has been updated to the most current version of the ArcGIS online map format. This provides more consistent alignment of layers, and the look and feel of the map are very similar to the old map. The available layers, the measuring tool, the base map gallery and other features have been maintained.

The default layers have remained the same; public space construction and occupancy permits, as well as the paving plan all open when the map first appears. The layer list still allows the user to turn layers on and off, as needed, including using the options to turn all layers on or off.

Questions can be directed at DDOT's Customer Service and Clearinghouse Branch by calling (202) 673-6813.
